GOP Policy Board Plans Probe Of Senatorial Investigations

Senate Nears Decision In Treaty Debate

Hairline Vote Hinted After 5 Weeks Of Airing Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, after five weeks of controversy over proposed curbs on treaty powers, appeared to be at the point of decision today with the issue teetering in the balance.

Whether any proposed constitutional amendment would get the two-thirds vote required seemed likely to be a hairline decision.

Senators Knowland of California and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Republican and Democratic floor leaders, said they believed final voting would come today.

The possibilities as the Senate reached the crucial point were:

1. Passage of a three-point package plan proposed by Knowland and other Republican Senate leaders and already tentatively approved by majority vote. Knowland says it is acceptable to President Eisenhower.

2. PASSAGE of a substitute proposal by Sen. George (D-Ga.) which the administration opposes, although not as determined as it did the starting point of the debate, an amendment offered by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio).

3. Failure of either of these two proposals to muster the needed two-thirds margin. That would almost certainly shelve the whole issue for this year.

Approval would have to be forthcoming.

Eastern Loop Talk Revived For Bypass

Hints of "the next step" began to take form here Friday as a result of the state's rejection of the city's plan to authorize the Route 23 bypass.

City Council authorized construction of the bypass through the western edge of the corporation, providing the state pays for everything. In a letter sent earlier this week to Council, State Highway Director S. O. Linnell gently chided the city for sidestepping its responsibility "among the other cities of Ohio."

He rejected the city's plan. As a result of Linnell's letter, supporters of the bypass are again urging approval of a plan under which the city—in addition to giving "consent"—would "chip in" $10,000 toward the costs. The city would also be obligated for maintenance under this proposal.

"They'll never get that past Council," an attorney for anti-bypass forces commented, "at least I don't think they will. And the reason I say that is because I think enough members of Council are opposed to the basic idea of the bypass."

MEANWHILE, FOES of the re-routing plan were again talking of looping the bypass around the eastern side of the city—instead of the proposed route which would slice through the community's western fringe.

Highways department officials said the possibility of an eastern bypass was discarded for several reasons long ago. One reason, they said, was the added distance required to loop it around the city.

However, opponents claim it would be only about a mile longer. And that it would be a better plan from the standpoint of engineering, and right-of-way costs.

McCarthy Asks Phone List Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he has obtained a photographic copy of the telephone numbers of people "regularly called by the Communist party headquarters" here in the 1940s. But he declined to say whether any of them were persons then employed on Capitol Hill.

McCarthy said he is sending copies of the list to the Civil Service Commission for a check on "how many of the people named on that list are in the service of the United States government."

Ohio Retail Sales Hit Peak In 1953

Ohio State University Survey Shows Year Totals $10.1 Billion

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research says Ohio's retail sales last year reached a record peak in dollar volume 7 per cent above the previous peak in 1952 and 38 per cent above the average of the years 1947-49.

The bureau reports these figures in the latest issue of the "Ohio Retail Annalist." The publication estimates "aggregate" dollar sales of Ohio retailers at $10.1 billion.

The estimate is based on the 1948 U. S. retail business census and monthly business "index" figures showing increases since that time.

The business making the best gains in 1953 was the automobile trade.

Says Editor James C. Yocum: "Automobile retailers led all others in percentage gain in dollar volume increase from 1952. 1953 was the second highest in history in automobile production, and dealers' sales of new cars were at correspondingly high levels."

Retail sales in other durable goods "showed only moderate increases." Household appliances showed a two percent decrease from 1952.

Increases ranged from 1 to 6 per cent in all other kinds of business.

By cities, retail trade increased 1 to 4 per cent in Canton, Akron and Toledo; 9 or 10 per cent in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Youngstown and Columbus and 16 per cent in Dayton.

In Chillicothe and Portsmouth, both hard by the atomic plant boom area, retail sales were up 30 and 22 per cent respectively over 1952 sales.

That's about all the American family can do, because there really isn't much coffee in Brazil, four clubwomen invited to investigate advised upon returning here today.

The four, all holding important posts in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, went to Brazil as guests of that nation, and checked the coffee supply problem from fazendas (farms) to empty warehouse upon empty warehouse.

"They've really had a bad time of it," said Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman of Jerseyville, Ill., first vice president of the general federation. "We saw millions of trees dead of a frost which struck last July 4. They were new trees, just coming into bearing."

"The frost deprived the world market of an amount of coffee which would have supplied 150 cups to every American this coming year," said Mrs. Gilbert F. Loeb of Waterville, Maine, the federation's consumer chairman. "And there was drought and insect damage besides that."

TERMING THEMSELVES the "coffee women," the four sat around a table at an airport restaurant sipping coffee as they talked with newsmen.

"I never tasted anything so good in my life," Mrs. Zaida Woodford Schroeder of Grosse Pointe, Mich., a practicing attorney and research specialist for the federation said of American-style coffee.

"In Brazil they serve it thick, strong and black."

Mrs. Carl E. Swanbeck of Huron, Ohio, home chairman for the federation reported the group as being the first women ever permitted inside the Santos Coffee Exchange.

The move is a direct result of the new tax and the resultant breakdown in reciprocity agreements between a group of Southern states and Ohio, said Clarence A. Kelley, general manager and counsel for the company. The company headquarters will move to Birmingham, Ala. Monday.

'Gloomy Dean' Dies At 93 Still Holding Bleak Outlook

WALLINGFORD, England (AP)—The Rev. William R. Inge, 93, church of England leader who earned renown as the "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's Cathedral, died in his home here today.

Dean Inge has said he believed neither in heaven, hell, nor the British Socialists who came to power after World War II.

He was dean of St. Paul's, the great London cathedral, from 1911 to 1934. King George V knighted him in 1930.

Though Dean Inge retired from St. Paul's two decades ago, he kept on reading and studying the human beings about him.

His mind was alert to the end. When he reached 90, he issued yet another of the four predictions which gave him his nickname, declaring: "We are approaching another dark age."

Move Linked To McCarthy's Stevens Feud

No Peace Between Two Even After Ike Backs Army Aide's Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Republican Policy Committee today ordered a study looking to possible changes in the rules under which investigations, such as those made by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), are conducted.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) announced he had been instructed by unanimous vote of the policy group, to "make a study of the rules and of policies with respect to investigations for guidance on committee or subcommittee procedure."

Although Ferguson declined to say so publicly, it was obvious the move was precipitated by the uproar caused by charges of Secretary of the Army Stevens that an army officer had been "abused" as a witness before McCarthy's committee investigating Communists in government.

There was no peace today between McCarthy and Stevens despite intervention in the squabble by President Eisenhower who gave his full backing to the Army secretary's position concerning methods of questioning military personnel.

Conciliation efforts foundered yesterday when Stevens issued a definition of his position, backed by President Eisenhower, and McCarthy retorted that it contained a "completely false" statement.

Stevens' statement was intended (a) to counter the impression that he had yielded to McCarthy on the issue of the senator's handling of Army officer witnesses, and (b) to assure any military personnel interrogated in the future of protection against what Stevens had termed "abuse."

Stevens said he was confident there would be no such treatment in the future because of "assurances which I have received from members" of the Senate investigations subcommittee which McCarthy heads.

THAT WAS THE statement McCarthy immediately termed "completely false."

The senator, who a moment before had been speaking with newsmen.

Capitol Hill Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican Policy Committee in the Senate orders a study of the rules under which investigations like those of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) are conducted, looking to possible changes.

Prospects arose meanwhile for a clashing test on the issue of "abuse" of Army witnesses, with the Eisenhower administration stiffening its stand and McCarthy defiant.

Coffee — Sen. Beall (R-MD) announces his special Senate banking committee is investigating reports of "a corner" in the coffee market. He says another jump of 5 or 10 cents in the retail prices of coffee is unjustified.

Bricker amendment — Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, predicts the chamber will adopt Sen. George's modification of the Bricker amendment to limit the scope of treaties. George, a senior Democrat from Georgia, expects a vote on the question later today.

Trucking Firm To Leave Ohio

AKRON (AP)—An official of the Dixie-Ohio Express Co. says the firm is taking its headquarters out of Ohio because of the state's new axle-mile tax.

The move is a direct result of the new tax and the resultant breakdown in reciprocity agreements between a group of Southern states and Ohio, said Clarence A. Kelley, general manager and counsel for the company. The company headquarters will move to Birmingham, Ala. Monday.

Ohio Solons Urge Zanesville Dam Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Rep. Secrest (D-Ohio) told a Senate appropriations subcommittee yesterday it would be unfair if the group didn't approve $2 million for Dillon Dam, near Zanesville, Ohio.

About $9 million have been appropriated by Congress for the project, designed to provide flood control for Zanesville and Marietta at the junction of the Muskingum and Ohio rivers. President Eisenhower has budgeted $2 million more for work in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Total cost of the dam is estimated at $27 million.

Ohio Optimistic On Truck Taxation

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state tax department today expressed optimism over collection of Ohio's controversial axle-mile tax on trucks with three or more axles.

Stanley J. Bowers, tax commissioner, said collections for the first quarter now total $2,882,992, and refunds have amounted to $66,000.

His department also has sent out $227,000 in delinquency assessments against truckers who filed returns but did not pay the tax. The department is working on a long list of truckers who neither filed returns nor paid the tax.

Yanks Optimistic About Near East

Defense Alliance Seen In Offing Despite Upheavals In Egypt, Syria

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials were reported more optimistic today than in some time over prospects for a near East defense alliance, despite political upheavals in Syria and Egypt.

While these countries are not envisioned as part of a defense chain to ring Russia's southern border, their affairs influence the actions of their neighbors.

The council of 13 young army officers who rule Egypt made a point of announcing there would be no change in Egypt's friendly attitude toward the West. This backed up a State Department estimate that the ouster of Mohammed Naguib as premier was an "internal affair" only.

There was no ready interpretation of fast-breaking developments in Syria. A military coup there forced the resignation of Adib Shishkeily, who has survived 26 assassinations attempts while ruling with an iron hand.

THE BIG NEWS, from the standpoint of the proposed Near East alliance, was President Eisenhower's announcement yesterday of U. S. military aid for Pakistan.

Eisenhower was careful to notify India's Prime Minister Nehru in a letter obviously intended to avoid any further ruffling of Nehru's oft-voiced sensitivity toward arms for the Near East.

Nehru has campaigned long and hard against military aid for Pakistan or any other country of the region. He argues this will upset the balance of power.

But American officials were understood to feel that, having had his say, he may ease his criticisms now that they failed to block Pakistan arms aid.

The Indian leader has said he will not move toward communism in anger but will continue his efforts to weld a neutral buffer bloc between the East and West.

In Karachi, Prime Minister Mohammed Ali said Pakistan has pledged "not to engage in any act of aggression against any nation." He added that the United States has not asked for bases or other concessions.

Eisenhower also emphasized the recent Pakistan-Turkey agreement to form an alliance with an "open end," that is, open to other Near East nations. The United States has given strong behind-the-scenes support to Pakistan-Turkey negotiations while maintaining an official hands-off attitude.

PAKISTAN AND Turkey, along with Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, comprise the five-nation defense chain that is contemplated, Iran and Saudi Arabia, weighed with domestic woes, are not considered likely to join any time soon. Officials say Iraq may come in within a year.

American officials have not ruled out the possibility of Egypt's eventually joining a Near East anti-Red alliance. But that will have to wait, they say, until a settlement of Egypt's dispute with Britain over control of the Suez.

Everybody Still Seems To Want Fire Pumper

The 13-year old 500-gallon pumper owned by the Rural Township Fire Association will be back in a familiar role here Saturday—the center-piece in a tug-of-war.

This time, however, the proceedings will be strictly under court orders, carried out by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff. Assets of the rural fire group are being dissolved, and the fire truck will be up for public sale Saturday at 2 p. m.

Sale will be in front of Pickaway County courthouse. The truck was recently returned here to the city fire station after being held since last Spring in a Jackson Township garage.

Officers of the association took it to Jackson Township when the group's firefighting pact with the city blew up in a row over costs. Many times since last Spring the association has been torn by internal debates over how the fire truck should be put back into action.

HOWEVER, No plan could be agreed upon by the whole group and it was decided to have the association's affairs turned over to the court.

The sale Saturday appeared certain to draw a large crowd of bidders and curious bystanders. It is already known that several communities and townships, including the city of Circleville, would like to obtain the apparatus.

Wheat Prices Going Up As Surplus Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)—American grain markets are witnessing the strange sight of wheat prices going up in face of a record surplus supply of the grain.

In fact, the surplus is large enough to fill all normal domestic needs for the grain well past the middle of 1955 without the harvest of a single bushel this year.

Pointing out the paradox, the Agriculture Department said today it expects further increases in prices before this year's crop starts moving to market.

The reason for increases in prices at a time when they normally could be expected to continue weak or decline is that government farm price support programs have created a market "shortage" in the midst of plenty.

The government itself owns about 438 million bushels of wheat acquired under price support programs prior to the 1953 crop. In addition about 500 million bushels from last year's crop have been locked up, so to speak, under price support loans to growers.

As a consequence, there is not enough wheat remaining in regular market channels to take care of needs until the 1954 crop becomes available.

Fayette County Building Levelled

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Flames fanned by a high wind today destroyed a large frame building housing a general store and a Grange hall in New Martinsburg in the southern part of Fayette County.

Another small building nearby was destroyed. Damage was not determined immediately.

Ike Regime Strongly Opposed To Hike In Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has laid out a line of strong resistance to any increase now in individual income tax exemptions. And as House Republican and Democratic leaders squared off for battle over the issue, each predicted success.

"An exemption increase will be adopted by Congress," said Rep. Boggs (D-La.), sponsor of a move to boost exemptions from $600 to $700. This would save taxpayers $2½ billion a year and cost the government that much.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, declared: "The over-all Republican program for tax reduction is sound and in the interests of taxpayers and the country. I think it will prevail."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey took up the cudgels for the administration late yesterday with a statement President Eisenhower was said to have approved.

He said the administration would "vigorously" fight the proposed exemption increase because:

1. THE COST of national security, although coming down, remains high and taxes must continue relatively high "until government spending can be further reduced with safety."

2. The loss of revenue from proposed increased exemptions would "throw us back into substantial deficit financing which cannot be justified at the present time and which we have been working so hard to overcome." The present fiscal program contemplates a deficit next year of $3 billion.

He said the administration's program already calls for 1954 tax reductions of over $6½ billion.

He said the program was devised as the most effective way "to promote the prosperity of all the people in a way that will bring permanent benefit to all our people and our country."

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, assistant Democratic leader of the House, replied that the Democratic drive for increased exemptions aims at "fair play" in any tax cut. He added:

"The Republicans have made the decision to reduce taxes at a time when they are proposing an unbalanced budget.

"Since the Republicans have made this decision, Democrats want any tax reductions to be equitable and fair."

The House Ways and Means Committee hopes to complete section-by-section action on the revision bill today. But another week would be required before technical drafting is completed and the committee is ready for a final vote on the big tax overhaul.

Sternbaum's Lover Faces Trial Grilling

MANSFIELD (AP)—Defense Counsel Paul M. Herbert made repeated efforts today to discredit testimony of Miss Margaret Rozenman.

The prosecution has attempted to prove Herbert's client, E. Max Sternbaum, 35-year-old supermarket executive, killed his wife Leah for Miss Rozenman's love.

Herbert told the court he found discrepancies between testimony Miss Rozenman gave State Fire Marshal Charles Scott and that she gave in Sternbaum's first degree murder trial testimony yesterday and the day before.

Miss Rozenman, who has disclosed details of a love affair with Sternbaum, testified earlier she lied to Marshal Scott when questioned last year under oath.

She said she was following Sternbaum's instructions in testimony to Scott.

Summoned to testify by the prosecution, the 32-year-old Miss Rozenman told earlier how she met Sternbaum and first tried to spurn his lavish attentions.

But, she continued in her testimony, each eventually vowed love for the other.

The state charges Sternbaum beat his wife to death with a wrench then fired the offices to cover up. Sternbaum maintains burglar attacked him and his wife and ignited the building.

Charterite Quits

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati city council Charterites yesterday lost their 5-4 majority when Albert Jordan quit the party, said he would serve as an independent.

SEVERAL DAYS after celebrating his 107th birthday, Albert Jordan, last survivor of the 2,675,000-man Union Army of the Civil War, still was opening birthday cards at his home in Duluth, Minn. Last year he received more than 8,000 greetings. "Don't count me out yet," he said, "but I am beginning to feel like I'm not a boy any more."

District's Drive For Red Cross Starts Tuesday

Final arrangements were being made Friday for the meeting that will launch the 1954 Red Cross Fund Campaign in Pickaway County.

The drive will be launched with a kickoff meeting next Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church. And all-out efforts will begin early the following day, aimed at a goal of $10,876 for this district.

The Rev. Robert B. Weaver will serve as chairman for the highly concentrated campaign — planned to cover only three days. Ervin Leist will serve as assistant fund chairman.

In charge of solicitations in Circleville will be Mrs. John Eshelman and Mrs. Walter Heine.

TOWNSHIP CHAIRMEN are: Circleville — Mrs. Forrest Short; Pickaway — Kenneth Shepler and Lawrence McKenzie; Walnut — Arthur Slack; Wayne — Mrs. J. Austin Dowden; Perry — Robert Bush; Muhlenburg — C. M. Reid; Madison — Katherine Decker and Mary Duval; Darby — Mrs. Marie Grubill; Washington — Mrs. Howard Huston; Monroe — Arthur Dick; Salt Creek — Ruth Macklin; Jackson — Marvane Rhoades; Williamsport — Mrs. William Radcliff; Ashville — Civic Club of Ashville.

Other group leaders include: Dudley Carpenter, industries; social organizations, Ed Grigg; treasurer for the fund drive, Mrs. Clara Belle Twombly.

Methodist Clerics Given Warning

COLUMBUS (AP)—The first National Methodist Convocation on Urban Life in America winds up its three-day stand in Columbus today with reports on developments in sectional meetings attended by some 1,200 persons.

The pastor of one of the largest Methodist churches in America told the laymen last night too many ministers concern themselves simply with running their church-putting it above the more important job of advancing the Kingdom of God.

Dr. Marshall T. Steel, pastor of the 7,000 member church in Dallas, Tex., criticized ministers who continually look for greener ministerial pastures.

Move Linked To McCarthy's Stevens Feud

men in complimentary terms of Stevens, said, "Absolutely no concession was made that any witness was abused."

To promise they would not be abused in the future, he went on, would be admitting they had been abused in the past.

James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary said Eisenhower approved and endorsed 100 per cent the statement in which Stevens spoke of the "assurances" and also said:

"I shall never concede to the abuse of Army personnel under any circumstances, including committee hearings. I shall never concede to their being browbeaten or humiliated."

"I do not intend to allow them to be deprived of the long-established practice that they have the advice of counsel when the matter under consideration is one of essential interest to me as secretary, as was the case with Gen. Zwicker."

Thus the Army secretary reverted to the episode which plunged his row with McCarthy to its depth of bitterness—the senator's questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, accompanied by such remarks as one that Zwicker was "unfit" to wear his uniform.

STEVENS subsequently directed Zwicker and another general to disregard subpoenas for an appearance before McCarthy's subcommittee.

McCarthy last night announced that he would now recall Zwicker and question him about an affidavit the general sent to Stevens about the hearing at which he was questioned. He said he wanted to know whether Zwicker was "mistaken or deliberately trying to misinform" Stevens.

Two Democratic members of McCarthy's subcommittee, saying pointedly that "this is primarily a Republican quarrel," declared they accept no responsibility for what went on.

The Democrats, Senators McClellan (Ark) and Jackson (Wash.), said they "were excluded" from the meeting. Sen. Symington of Missouri, the third Democratic member, is out of the country.

2 Fire Officials Issue Warning On Causes Of Chimney Blazes

Fire Chief Talmer Wise warned residents Friday against papering over chimney holes without first putting in metal chimney stops.

The warning was in conjunction with one from Ohio State Fire Marshal Charles R. Scott about fire hazards created by defective or unclean chimneys.

"Every spring," Chief Wise said, "some persons put on new wall paper, and paper right over chimney and smokepipe holes without first plugging the holes or capping them with metal plates. The result is that the next time they build a fire, they get a blaze in their house. We have had quite a few fires each year due to that cause."

Another cause of fires in Circleville is uncleaned fireplaces, the chief declared. After the fires are allowed to die out, many persons simply leave the accumulated soot and cover their fireplaces up by putting furniture in front, he said, and the next time they build a fire they find the blaze coming out of the fireplace into the living areas.

THE STATE fire marshal said sparking chimneys caused 535 fires in 1952 with a monetary loss of $394,830, and defective chimneys were responsible for 549 fires with a monetary loss of $596,833.

To eliminate these causes, Scott suggests inspection of chimneys for the following defects: loose and falling mortar, cracks, loose fitting or defective smoke pipes, unused smoke pipe openings stuffed with combustible material and wood joists, lath or wood work fastened to the chimney.

Fires in chimneys, or chimneys "burning out", can be dangerous, Scott warned, because flying pieces of soot may ignite any combustible material with which it comes in contact. He suggests removal of the soot from chimneys by employment of an expert chimney cleaner using modern vacuum equipment, or by lowering a rope to which is attached a weighted wire brush, rags, or a piece of log chain, into the chimney, and working it up and down.

Soot or other chemicals should not be thrown into the fire to cause the chimney to burn out, as this creates a fire hazard, Scott said. He added that a spark arrester should be put on chimneys above shingle or other unapproved building roofs.

Senate Nears Decision In Treaty Debate

Late yesterday the Senate defeated 50-42 a new section by Bricker, which he described as embodying the heart of his original proposed amendment.

Twenty-nine Republicans and 13 Democrats, most of them Southerners, supported Bricker. But 32 Democrats along with 17 Republicans and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) voted "no."

At least 18 senators oppose any constitutional change on the treaty-making power. The size of this group was shown in the 74-18 vote by which the Senate rejected yesterday a motion by Morse to send the Bricker resolution back to the Judiciary Committee.

The section of the proposal to which the administration objects states that an executive agreement not submitted for Senate ratification cannot be effective domestically in this country without an act of Congress.

Knowledge read to the Senate yesterday a memo approved by Atty. Gen. Brownell stating this would seriously curtail the powers of the President.

Man, Woman Bound To Grand Jury

William Segars, 24, and Rose Segars, 25, a sister-in-law, of Chillicothe, were bound over to grand jury at a hearing in Mayor Bob Hinton's Court in Tarlton Thursday night. Bond was set at $2,000 each.

The two are accused of driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and with assault on the owner, Robert L. Gaus, Cambridge.

The two met Gaus in a Circleville bar Wednesday night, police said, and persuaded him to drive them to Chillicothe. Enroute, Segars pulled the keys from the ignition, struck Gaus with a flashlight, and drove the car away after Gaus left the vehicle during the struggle, according to police reports. The two were arrested by Chillicothe police who had been notified by State Patrolman Ray Hoylman.

Weather Forecast
Weather Saturday through Wednesday will continue warmer than normal. Normal low 23 north to 27 south. Normal high 39 north to 46 south. Somewhat warmer late Saturday and Sunday. Cooler Monday, warmer Tuesday and Wednesday. Rain or snow producing one tenth to one-half inch of moisture indicated Saturday night or Sunday and again about Wednesday.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

GERRY GARRETT
Gerry Stanley Garrett, 4, died unexpectedly at 9:20 a. m. Thursday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Garrett of near Laurelville.

Gerry Garrett was born Oct. 2, 1949 in Cincinnati, son of Gene and Vera Rickett Garrett.

Surviving him in addition to his parents are two sisters, Joy Elaine and Peggy Ann; four brothers, Roger E., Terry Lee, Larry S. and Rickey Dean, all at home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rickett of Adelphi and Mr. and Mrs. Minrod Garrett of Logan and great grandfathers, John Tisdale of Laurelville and Charles Rickett of Logan.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Adelphi Methodist church with the Rev. C. R. McDowell officiating. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi, by direction of L. E. Hill Funeral Home, Kingston.

Friends may call in the George Rickett home in Adelphi.

LULU KIRKPATRICK
Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick, 71, of New Holland, died suddenly Thursday night of a heart attack while in her home.

She was born in Ross County October 24, 1882, the daughter of John and Sepetra Acord Wright, and had lived most of her life in the New Holland community. She was a member of the New Holland Methodist Church, the WSCS and the WCTU, and for many years taught Sunday school in the Methodist Church.

Surviving are a stepdaughter, Mrs. Coyt Cleary, of Clarksville; two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Hancock and Mrs. Minnie Tarbill, both of New Holland; five grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Her husband, Lincoln, died in 1936.

Funeral services will be from the Methodist Church at 2 p. m. Sunday, and burial will be in the New Holland Mausoleum. Friends may call at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home after 7 p. m. Friday.

Canal Winchester Driver Fined $25

A Canal Winchester motorist who suffered minor injuries when his car swerved from the highway was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving when he appeared Thursday before Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb.

The motorist, Robert L. Storts, 19, suffered an injured hand when his car went off the road and struck a pole. He was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Carl White.

Other cases listed Thursday included:

Lendel E. Hodge, 21, of Washington, D. C.; crossing the yellow line; arrested by State Patrolman Ray Hoylman; fined $10 and costs.

Donald B. Haines, 31, of Baltimore, Md.; crossing the yellow line; arrested by Hoylman; fined $10 and costs.

WILLIAM G. DONOVAN, 26, of Mason City, Ill.; failure to file for registration; arrested by Officer Ludwell Mills; fined $10 and costs.

Left over from the list of the preceding day, the court reported Earl Stout, 57, of E. Main St.; was fined $100 and costs, given a three-day jail term, and deprived of his operating privileges for six months on accusation of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The arrest was by Special Officer Max Forquer.

Crane-Truck Sale Followed By Blaze

Henry Shaffer, of 129 York St., is fortunate when he sells equipment.

Thursday afternoon he sold a combination truck and crane to Gale Barthelmas of Circleville Auto Parts for $600, and collected a good-sized down payment. The ink was hardly dry on the bill of sale when the truck motor burst into flame, ate its way through the instrument panel and ignited the gasoline tank.

Flame and smoke roared upward from the machine and in a matter of minutes the truck was all but destroyed. Circleville Fire Department put out the blaze before it could ignite buildings close by in an alley off Highland Ave. The crane part of the equipment was not damaged.

The machine was being moved to its new owner's lot when it burst into flame.

Burglars Work Hard For Nothing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Burglars broke into Max Schwartz's food market and spent several hours prying the steel off a heavy safe and cracking through the cement lining. Then they discovered (1) the safe had been open all the time—a turn of the handle would have saved them all that work, and (2) only a few business papers were inside.

Correction

It was children of the Circleville High St. School, and not students of the high school as was reported Thursday, who have purchased television sets to be used in the visual education program.

Living Cost Up To Near Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today living costs rose in January to a point just below the record.

The rise was too small, however, to prevent workers in the auto, aircraft and farm machinery industries from losing a penny in hourly pay rates. More than a million workers were involved.

These workers got a 2 cent increase last fall when the government index hit its peak of 115.4 per cent of the 1947-49 average in October. Today's index is 115.2.

Egypt Chiefs Assure West Of Friendship

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's under-40-year-old bosses assured the Western Powers today that a new and younger man in the top job doesn't mean a turn against the West.

British and American officials in Washington and London already had figured that the removal of conservative, 53-year-old Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib from the Nile republic's presidency would not change Egypt's foreign policy of friendliness with the West and determination that British troops must quit the Suez Canal zone.

Rumors circulated in Cairo, however, that the West was concerned at Naguib's replacement as premier and chairman of the ruling military Revolutionary Council by 36-year-old Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser. Maj. Salah Salem, fiercest of the council members and the national guidance minister, hurriedly summoned foreign correspondents to say:

"There will be by no means any change in our policy, either external or internal."

Salem said the republic's policies "have always been made by all members of the revolutionary council," the group of young army officers who led the revolt against ex-King Farouk and have dominated the government ever since. The council's membership remains unchanged, except for Naguib's removal.

He showed when Naguib came he said, when the president threatened to resign unless he was given veto powers on council decisions and the right to dismiss Cabinet members.

World Today

By James Marlow
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I guess," said Robert F. Stevens, secretary of the Army, "I didn't handle it too well."

That was how he summed up his fight with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). This was how he handled it:

McCarthy demanded two things: 1. The names of Army people who investigated Maj. Irving Peress and gave him an honorable discharge. McCarthy calls Peress a "Fifth Amendment Communist." Peress says McCarthy talks "utter nonsense" about him.

2. Appearance as witnesses of two generals connected with the Peress case, although remotely. Stevens ordered the generals to disregard subpoenas for their appearance after, he said, McCarthy had "abused" one of them.

Stevens says he wanted assurance McCarthy would not "abuse" officers who came before him. In fact, he had told the generals to stand back while he tackled McCarthy on this point in a public hearing that had been scheduled for yesterday.

The hearing was called off Wednesday after Stevens spent two hours behind doors with McCarthy and three Republicans in his subcommittee: Senators Mundt, South Dakota; Dirksen, Illinois; and Potter, Michigan.

At the end of the session, with Stevens and McCarthy listening, Mundt read to newsmen what he called a "memorandum of understanding."

It was completely and obviously one-sided. It gave McCarthy everything he wanted: he would get the names of those who investigated Peress and could not only question them but the generals too. It gave Stevens nothing.

Stevens said later, when he was back in the Pentagon, he had assurances from members of the subcommittee—he didn't say assurances from McCarthy himself —"that they will not permit such conditions to develop in the future."

He meant they agreed no Army people would be "abused." But there was no such agreement in writing. What McCarthy wanted, he got in writing. This "memorandum" read by Mundt could be considered a contract.

Stevens has had a lot of experience with contracts. He was head of a big textile firm, board chairman of a bank, and a member of the boards of directors of some of the biggest corporations in America.

He heard the memorandum read but offered no objection. He went from there back to the Pentagon.

There newsmen asked him if he had retreated when he met McCarthy face to face. He replied that he did not consider himself a "person who capitulates." That was when he made his first suggestion that there was a part of the "memorandum" not in writing.

He said he had "every reason to believe Army personnel will not be abused by the committee" in the future. Wednesday night he began calling members of President Eisenhower's White House staff.

By then he had time to get a reaction from inside and outside the Pentagon: a very widespread view he had surrendered to McCarthy; that he had talked tough but not when the showdown came.

Before noon yesterday he was reportedly very upset by the general impression he had caved in. The Washington Star, for instance, on the front page, said Army morale was shot to pieces by his performance.

Late in the day, according to some of the senators who had sat in with Stevens and McCarthy, the Army secretary wanted to make an addition in writing to the "memorandum" issued the day before. In effect, they said, he wanted them to agree no witness before their committee would be "abused."

He got no such document. McCarthy said later any such agreement would be an admission witnesses had been abused in the past, which he denied had been done.

Finally, Stevens got tough again. He issued a statement, backed by the White House, which said he had not surrendered and that:

"If any Army people are abused in the future, 'I shall once again take all steps' at his disposal to protect them. And he added: 'From assurances I have received from members of the subcommittee, I am confident that they will not permit such conditions to develop in the future.'"

Immediately McCarthy said it was "completely false" for Stevens to say he had such assurances. "Absolutely no concession was made that any witness was abused," McCarthy said.

Jack London Home Is Sold For $75

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A home which the late Jack London built for his mother in 1901 was sold at auction by the city yesterday for $75.

Built for Mrs. Flora London, the eight-room, two-story structure stood on ground needed by the city for a boulevard-widening project. Leo W. Cumberlich, Oakland druggist whose bid was accepted, said he would move the historic home to a new location.

County Outfit In Air Guard Has Openings

Major Walden E. Reichelderfer of 510 S. Scioto St., commander of an Ohio Air National Guard unit that draws about half its personnel from Pickaway County, announced Friday the outfit still has openings for eligible young men.

Major Reichelderfer is commander of the headquarters squadron section, Headquarters of the 121st Fighter Bomber Wing, of the state's flying guardsmen, stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base. The wing is being recruited to full authorized strength to meet greater defense responsibilities assigned to the Air National Guard by the Defense Department in Washington.

Young men interested in the opportunity were urged to contact the recruiting officer in Circleville without delay, as available openings are becoming fewer. When all present openings in the wing headquarters unit are filled, Major Reichelderfer explained, new recruits will be enlisted in other Air Guard outfits based at Lockbourne. He emphasized the advantages of serving with a unit drawn largely from this section. Pickaway County residents in the outfit are largely from Circleville and Ashville.

THE 121ST Fighter Bomber Wing is looking for men, aged from 17 to 18 years and six months, who can meet the high Air National Guard standards.

Guardsmen train with the latest available equipment under supervision of officers and non-coms. They train twice a month and go to camp for two weeks at Alpena, Mich., a permanent field training site for Air National Guardsmen in the Summer. Pay is at regular Air Force rates according to grade.

Southeast TB Clinic Decision In Offing

COLUMBUS (AP) — Dr. John D. Porterfield, state health director, says the location of a new tuberculosis hospital in southeastern Ohio should be announced early next week.

He said the Advisory Committee on Tuberculosis Care will make its recommendation for the site to the Department of Health.

The last Legislature appropriated $1,150,000 for the hospital.

Dr. Porterfield said the committee not only will recommend a site but also will suggest the type of facilities best suited for modern tuberculosis care.

STATES' ROLE

REVISION OF THE Taft-Hartley Act, recommended by the White House, may soon become a subject of hot discussion in Congress. Sixteen amendments have been proposed by the administration, some of which would liberalize the law in the direction favored by union heads.

But few, if any, union leaders have responded to this overture with enthusiasm. Thus support for the proposals by liberal northern Democrats is weakened. Southern Democrats are cool to the 16 proposed changes, and without Democratic support it is unlikely that the act will be revised.

A winning congressional coalition might be effected by adding a seventeenth point which would strengthen states' rights in the field of labor relations. Fifteen states now have passed laws outlawing the union shop.

Southern Democrats, as well as many Republicans, would favor such a step. This would be regarded by union leaders with horror, but a stalemate is probable unless southern Democrats and conservative Republicans are appeased by granting the states increased authority to handle labor-management disputes in their own jurisdiction.

If this should prove to be a winning strategy and the states win back powers surrendered under the Wagner and the Taft-Hartley acts, many states will find it necessary to resurvey their labor laws, some of which are no longer adequate. State legislatures would be called upon to rewrite the labor laws of many states.

RESETTLING THE WEST

CENTER OF INDUSTRIAL employment in the United States—as well as that of the population itself—continues to push westward.

A new study covering the period from 1939 through 1952 shows that the most dynamic areas of industrial growth have been the Southwestern and Pacific states. Of equal importance is the fact that the Great Lakes states have begun to replace the Middle Atlantic states as the nation's industrial hub. On a proportionate basis, the South also has been making unusual headway.

The last decade and a half has witnessed a second settling of the West, as significant as the first. As war-spurred industry moved inland toward sources of raw material, the country's increasing population broke out of formerly restrictive geographic bounds under the impact of the automobile, improved rail and air transport and the other wonders of modern communication.

Distances are no longer a barrier in a country whose coasts can be bridged in a few hours' flying time.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Robert T. Stevens, Secretary of the Army, and Senator Joseph McCarthy started out on a cooperative basis in the investigation of the Communist infiltration of the Army. Never did an Executive department work together so closely with a Congressional committee. There were constant conferences between Stevens's counsel, John Adams, and McCarthy's counsel, Roy Cohn. Adams attended closed sessions of the Committee; Cohn gave him advance notice of what was to happen in matters relating to the Army. It was a love feast.

Then the course of the investigation moved in the direction of Army brass who were personally responsible for errors of judgment and commission. The inevitable question had to be, who did this? The fight started when that question was applied to the case of Major Irving Peress, the Queens County Communist leader who was taken into the Army in the 'Doctor-Dentist Draft, whose documentation is incomplete, and who was flagged as a Communist in April and December, 1953; yet who was promoted from captain to major. Then when McCarthy discovered the facts, Peress was hurriedly given an honorable discharge.

Furthermore, the Army knew that Major Peress was under investigation by the Committee when he was given this honorable discharge. It is curious that such a fuss is made about our brain-washed boys in Korea, two of whom are involved in courts-martial, but this Fifth Amendment case is protected by the Army, which risks a major constitutional fight over it.

The questions as to who opens the doors for Communists, who promotes them, who protects them, who fights for them, who instructs other officials not to testify as to the truth and according to their consciences, must be asked and answered. For while Major Peress, a dentist, is, as a person of little importance and his presence in or obsence from the Army makes little difference, the system which permits affiliates of our enemy to function in the Army needs to be uncovered.

Secretary of the Army Stevens is a fine person, a businessman brought into government service by President Eisenhower. In this controversy, nothing reflects on him personally. It must be said, however, that he has not succeeded in establishing civilian rule over the brass, which Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson has succeeded in establishing in his office.

It is a difficult thing to do because since unification, the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force have been reduced to third level positions in the government hierarchy. In all departments, the brass asserts itself beyond its authority, often overriding the authority of the civilians who should be the masters. The tendency is to keep such matters under wraps; the annoyance with McCarthy is that he brought matters into the open which the Army prefers should be kept under cover. (Continued on Page Six)

Can any nation be so foolhardy as to tangle with us, now that we have the n i k e rocket, the hydrogen bomb and all the naval officers carrying swords.

In answer to increasing coffee prices, citizens in the Ozarks are reported to be turning to sassafras tea. Perhaps the government could finance a project to convert Brazilians to sassafras tea, after which a shortage and higher prices could be maneuvered.

The Doctor Disagrees

SYNOPSIS
Dr. Stephen Carr is about to leave his native Norfolk in the midwest for Army duty in the Pacific. He has arranged with his old friend, Dr. Craig Talbot, a skilled physician, to come to Norfolk from a distant city for the purpose of taking over the Carr medical practice. Talbot arrives and is warmly greeted by Carr and his gracious wife, Shelly, at dinner in their home. Shelly is struck by the dark handsome Talbot's dynamic force, his charm and sense of humor, and especially by his generally had opinion of the medical profession as a whole. Fearfully, she wonders whether her husband's patients will find this bluntly frank nonconformist acceptable as their doctor. Carr leaves for his mission to the Orient and Dr. Talbot promptly dismisses Carr's long devoted office clerk, Miss Cobb. He explains the matter merely by stating that he did not care to be harried by the woman. Shelly steps into the vacant clerical post wondering as she does so, what motive the pompous Carr family may attribute to her move. Silently, an ailment due largely to improper diet control in factory plants has long plagued legal factory workers. Dr. Talbot determines to uproot this evil at its base, well aware that his course of action may bring about industrial strife.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"WELL, my goodness, child," May Anna said Shelly, "if you're lonely, you can always come out here and stay."

"Thank you—you are kind. But—oh, it's not so much being alone as it is not having definite duties to do at definite times. Going to the office gives me that."

"Miss Cobb says she couldn't get along with the new doctor," said her sister-in-law, Ruth.

"Oh, have you talked to her?" "Yes; after all, we wanted to know why you, the wife of a Carr, should..."

For a brief minute the blue eyes flashed several tones lighter. "You could have asked me, there was no mystery about it. Dr. Talbot obviously is not Stephen. Miss Cobb thought he should be—and well, he isn't."

It didn't really make sense. The Carrs had every right to look puzzled. "Do you know Dr. Talbot?" she asked her father-in-law.

"Of course we know him! Stevie brought the man to my office when he first came to Norfolk," he said quietly. "He has been very conscientious about plant inspection and personnel examinations. I asked him out here one night for dinner. He played the piano. He does it very well. Have you heard him?"

"No," said Shelly. "You evidently know him much better than I do."

"Yes. He does play well. Jazz mostly. He and I did a duet," Everett chuckled. "He said I was as good as Truman. Stubborn man," Everett added coldly. His face had become, quite suddenly, a mask, cold and determined. It was this core of ice which could drop unexpectantly that made Shelly fear her father-in-law. His voice dropped to a rumble. "Don't wonder the Cobb girl left! Don't let him be rude to you, Shelly!"

She smiled. "He's never shown any inclination. In fact, his manners are downright courtly." She quoted Stephen, "No one ever gets through a door behind Dr. Talbot."

Everett seemed to be reconsidering. His next remark was in a milder voice. "Well, if you like the work, and get along with the man—I don't see why you shouldn't play around with a job, until you get tired of it," he conceded. "And if you do get along with him, I wish you'd do me a favor."

Shelly was so surprised at the suggestion that she could only stare.

"Use any influence you have, my dear, to get the man into line with the hospital! Three months is three months, and the time has come for him to show his hand. To do, or to don't! And I wish you'd see to it that it's done."

"Tappa," murmured May Anna. The next day Shelly put the question directly to Craig Talbot, and he answered her, after his own fashion.

"What," she said directly, "is the matter between you and the hospital?"

"Did your father-in-law tell you to ask me that?" he countered quickly, softly.

Shelly sighed. "He indicated there was some sort of trouble. He didn't say what it was."

"Tell you to bat your pretty eyelashes? No! No, I withdraw that! He didn't, and you wouldn't. But maybe he suggested that, as Stephen's—Stevie's—wife, you could pass along a few orders?"

"If you knew how unhappy they are about my working here, you'd not suggest that I was their stooge."

He smiled. "So the kitten has claws," he announced.

Shelly said nothing. She had brought the record book and some mail to Dr. Talbot's desk for his attention. He was supposed to tell her of any outside calls he had made, of any appointments; he would indicate how to answer the mail.

"The only point of disagreement I've had with the hospital board," said Dr. Talbot gently, "is my failure to join the local chapter of the Medical Association."

"Oh," said Shelly. "I suppose Stevie belonged. In fact, I know he did."

"Yes. Of course."

"Why 'of course'?" "I don't know anything about such matters, Dr. Talbot. But Stephen usually did the things he was supposed to do."

"Why? Because he was supposed to, or because he thought, for himself, that to do them was right?"

"I don't know," Shelly admitted. "But he does have a mind of his own. You know he does!"

"I liked Carr fine—until I came here to work."

"Did you know that Stephen had studied medicine against his family's wish?"

"Well, good for him! We'll mark that up on his chart! I always supposed the family, like most industrialists, had decided they could afford a professional man."

"The Carrs think there is nothing better than being a successful industrialist."

He tipped back in his chair, and studied the ceiling while he considered that. "Do they still hope Stevie will give up medicine?"

"Don't call him that! But, yes—they'd be pleased."

"Himmnnnnnn," mused Dr. Talbot, his eyes closed.

"Why haven't you joined the Medical Association here?"

"Matter of principle." His tone was indifferent.

She said nothing. "You admire principles?" One eye looked at her.

"Sometimes."

He sat up and faced her. "Shelly," he said earnestly, "I think you're mighty pretty, but—well, do you know anything—anything at all about the A.M.A.?"

"If you mean the American Medical Association..."

"I do."

"Well, then—I recognize its prestige; I know it's a big organization."

"Of what kind of men?"

"Why, doctors."

"What kind of doctors?"

"If you're making fun of me..."

"I'm not, Shelly. I'm taking a sample of your information, just as the city goes around with bottles and takes samples of water. The A.M.A. is a whopping-big organization, and it spends millions in advertising, publicity, propaganda—and all the average layman can ever tell me about it is that it's big, and has prestige. Now, Shelly, I'm not criticizing you. I'm blaming the A.M.A. They should tell you people what the thing is, how it started, how it operates."

"Well, what's wrong with it?" (To Be Continued)

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower and his economic advisers are laying their cards on the table of hard facts in a manner which their immediate predecessors never did. Both he and his experts now admit publicly that they erred when, a few months ago, they described the current business and industrial slowdown as a "rolling adjustment" rather than a "recession." They take the view that recognition of a condition is the first step toward remedying it.

They admit that things are not too rosy, as reflected in layoff of workers, declining production and consumption, high prices and all the other signs of general deterioration. Eisenhower's aides are now studying means to bolster the economy, if the present trend continues.

It is doubtful if the Administration will resort to dramatic or spectacular moves, for there will not be time for them to be effective. There is no need as yet for another WPA relief project, and large-scale construction by a revived PWA requires considerable advance planning.

PROBLEM—It is White House belief that the major problem is the rebuilding of public confidence so as to keep production and purchasing at high levels. Washington can put money in people's pockets by individual, corporate and excise tax cuts, by increasing minimum wage and unemployment compensation rates, by keeping farm supports at present percentages. Sentiment for these easily applied "shots" is growing on Capitol Hill, and even among some conservative businessmen.

The economists, however, save for extreme pessimists, do not expect the present drop to become severe or protracted. In their opinion, it is remarkably like the 1937 and 1948-49 slow-downs. Neither caused great hardship. Both ended quickly.

In his mid-1949 economic report, Truman said that "we are now in transition period, putting the best face on the matter. In his recent survey, Ike conceded that there had been some contraction" in 1953. He attributed it to a reduction of inventories. They have fallen by about the same amount, $8 billion, that they did five years ago.

PARALLELS—Contrary to the popular belief, the 1948-49 recession was conquered before the Korean "police action" gave an artificial stimulus to business and industry, pouring fresh billions into the economic bloodstream. It was overcome by natural causes, and the economists believe that the same forces will begin to operate soon. Beginning late in 1948, it ran its course by August, 1949, or about ten months.

There are other parallels which impress and encourage the White House. In 1948-49, the number of unemployed increased by about two million, which is almost equal to today's total boost of the jobless. There was then a 20 per cent decline in production, as against 10 per cent now.

In both the 1948-49 drop and now, there was a comfortable level of consumption, construction, corporate profits and liquid purchasing power. They furnish a basis for recovery and growth that did not exist in 1929, or even in 1937. And, as the President has said, his Council of Economic Advisers is "keeping a day-to-day watch of the situation."

CONDITIONS—The federal government, as well as the business community, has learned a lot about economic laws and behavior in the last two decades. That has been the principal hobby and study of Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Economic Council, for many years before he was named to his present post.

Instead of the ignorance which prevailed at Washington in the days when we were assured that "prosperity is just around the corner," there is awareness. And since the Administration's political advisers saw what 1929 did to the GOP in local and national elections, the federal government will be more alert, more prompt and more active in minimizing or preventing a major collapse.

Those are two important and preventive factors which did not exist in the past.

Junior Women Will Sponsor Puss In Boots

"Puss in Boots", a whimsical play from the famous story by Charles Perrault, will be presented Wednesday in the Cliftona Theatre under the auspices of the Circleville Junior Woman's Club of which organization, Mrs. Steve Brudzinski is president.

The Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre which will present "Puss in Boots" here is now in its thirtieth season, and this will be their sixth appearance in Circleville under Junior Woman's Club sponsorship. All previous performances have been made to capacity audiences largely of school children from Circleville, Pickaway County schools, Kingston and Stoutsville.

Mrs. Richard Penn and Mrs. Richard Funk, co-chairmen for the play project, have announced that there will be three performances at 9:30 a. m., 12:30 p. m., and 2:30 p. m. Children will be brought by school bus from county schools, Kingston and Stoutsville for the first two performances, with city school children making up the audience for the last performance. Tickets will be on sale at the schools or may be secured from members of the Junior Woman's Club.

Funds derived from presenting the children's play locally this year as in past years will be used in a welfare project for the benefit of school children.

First Date With Real Live Boy Tangles Love, Stamp Collection

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—A charming $600 tax exemption I know recently had her first date.

We'd better call this girl Jane since that isn't her name. But as she is now 11 and knows her rights, her father can no longer write so freely. She might sue for invasion of privacy.

Most girls in her class went to the square dance in the school gym with other girls. But Jane was invited by a real, live boy, name of David, age 12, "and what's more," she said, "he's paying the 35 cents for my ticket." For years, Jane has been a willing target for any dollar diplomat.

By way of preparation, she fought, for and won a new, full, quilted skirt "that twirls out in a heavenly way." She fought for and lost a pair of silk stockings. She asked for and got 50 cents to buy David a soda after the dance "since it's only fair."

On the big day, she had her hair washed and set and the first time in her life tolerated the curlers long enough to make order out of chaos.

An hour before David's scheduled arrival, she was fully dressed and shining like a new queen. With royal majesty, she refused to let any but herself peek through the front window curtains to see who was coming up the front walk.

She was especially adamant that her 8-year-old sister, a pig-tailed pixie called Kathy, be held under strict surveillance throughout.

"When's he gonna slip the ring on your finger?" Kathy said.

"Ma, make her shut up!" Jane shouted.

"When's he gonna pop the question?" Kathy persisted. She is clearly a girl who has watched too much television, has an exalted notion of her sister's age and, besides, harbors a secret desire to share her room with no one.

Kathy was wrestled into silence and Jane ran up to her room, announcing that we were to tell David she'd be down in a few minutes. The doorbell rang and Jane was down before the echo died.

"Hi, David."

"Hi, Jane."

"Come meet my father and mother." No mention of sister.

David was a solid young man with curly blond hair and smart, navy pea jacket. Remembering my own self-consciousness at his age, I resolved to set him at his ease.

"I'm very glad to meet you," he said, and shook my hand with startling firmness. I was about to mention the Dodgers' chances this year, when David, looking

French Ask Yank: You Talk English?

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—A French journalist, one of three visiting the Maryland Statehouse last night, scanned a House roll-call sheet and asked, "What's this 'yea'?"

Told it meant "yes," he inquired: "What's this 'nay'?" That is the same as "no," he was informed.

"Don't you people speak English?" he asked.

me squarely in the eye, inquired about my health, encouraged me to talk about my odd jobs around the house and assured me his father had much the same problems. In no time at all, he had me at my ease.

As they were leaving, Jane's mother asked timidly, "What time can we expect you back?"

"About 10," David said. "I always bring my dates back about 10."

There seemed to be no arguing with that.

At 10:08, they returned. David said so long, and Jane said so long and "Gee, I had a wo-o-o-nd-erful time!"

There was something so direct and fresh about their goodnights. How long, I thought sadly, will it take before she learns to be devious, to say not quite what she means?

About her evening, Jane told us only a little; that the dance was wonderful, that David insisted on paying for the sodas and she used her money for comic books. And then she rushed upstairs to write in her diary.

Two days later, it was all over. David wanted to buy her stamp collection but Jane thought the offered price was outrageously low. They still aren't speaking, and I keep worrying that Jane keeps worrying that he never really loved her for herself but had his eyes, all along, on that stamp collection.

Methodists Set Week Of 'Dedication'

Methodist churches throughout the United States will join next week in their denomination's annual "Week of Dedication" during which special emphasis is given to the missions and relief efforts of the churches throughout the world.

The needs of the many millions of persons in areas of distress overseas will be given particular attention in this year's "Week of Dedication" observances, it was announced by E. Harold Mohn, executive director of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation, at its offices in Chicago.

The increased opportunities for relief and rehabilitation efforts in Korea due to the cessation of hostilities, the increasing refugee problem in Germany and central Europe, and the needs of millions of homeless and hungry in India, Pakistan and the Near East were cited by Dr. Mohn as particular instances of the urgency for the widespread programs of the church.

Through funds raised in its "Week of Dedication" efforts, Dr. Mohn said, the Methodist church cooperates in and supports programs of the 1954 "One Great Hour of Sharing" United Appeal, sponsored by the Central Department of Church World Service, National Council of Churches, and participated in by major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations in the United States.

It would be preferable that nothing should be kept under cover. The national defense is not involved in these disclosures of the Communists; it may be imperilled by failure to bring into the open all the evidence of the errors of judgment and commission during the past decade. Many Army officers are prepared to talk and do talk privately when assured that they will not be exposed. Without the assistance of what has come to be known as "The Pro-American Underground," little data could be made available. But the top brass continues to prefer the cover-up—

"Let bygones be bygones"—because personal friends and officers are involved in laziness, carelessness, thoughtlessness.

Secretary Stevens has fallen into this trap and therefore the country is getting an altogether wrong impression of the man. His argument that he, alone, can determine if an Army officer may testify as to whether he is to appear before a Congressional committee is untenable. Suppose it is an investigation into the embezzlement of $1,000,000? Suppose it is not McCarthy who is investigating but Senator Bridges or Senator Saltonstall? Where is Stevens' argument then?

The right of Congress to inquire into the operations of the Executive Branch of government is clear and unassailable. This right has never been questioned by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, al-

2 From City Share In Musical Honor

The local area had at least two representatives on hand when the 150-piece All-Ohio High School Orchestra performed recently at Ohio State University.

Donna Mitchell, high school sophomore and daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Mitchell of 146 E. Mound St., was a member of the violin section. Her day was spent in full and sectional rehearsals, with a free concert for the public in the evening.

Participation was recognized as a high honor since the orchestra members were selected from regional orchestra festivals, held earlier in six geographical sections of the state.

Also present was Truman Eberly, supervisor of music at the high school. He was in charge of the placement and sectional rehearsal of French horns and trumpets for the orchestra.

though they sometimes questioned the wisdom of Congressional committees. The Eisenhower Administration has not been attacked by any of these committees, but it is running interference against efforts to expose the past. That is bad for the country and politically dangerous.

The Good Shepherd

HE LAID DOWN HIS LIFE FOR HIS SHEEP

Scripture—John 10.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IN THE Old Testament the people of Israel are referred to many times as God's flock. False shepherds arose who deceived the people, and are condemned by the Testament.
In our lesson today Jesus tells a parable about the good shepherd and the bad:
"Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that entereth not by the door, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.
"To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out. And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him; for they know his voice."
The sheep will not follow a stranger. The fold was a walled enclosure with only one door, we

Me, even so know I the Father; and I lay down My life for the sheep.
"And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: these also must I bring, and they shall hear My voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.
"Therefore doth My Father love Me, because I lay down My life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from Me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of My Father."
That is what Jesus meant by His time not being come. He knew when it was he would allow Himself to be taken and crucified. His Father had told Him.
At these words there was a division among the hearers. Many of them said, "He hath a devil; He is mad; why hear ye Him?" Others answered, "These are not the words of him that hath a are told." Dr. Wilbur Smith tells that when he was in Palestine he tried to imitate the voice of the sheep's shepherd, but that the sheep not only ignored his voice but were afraid and ran from him.

MEMORY VERSE

"Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear My voice; and there shall be one fold, and one Shepherd."—John 10:16.

Presumably the people were interested in the parable, but they did not understand its meaning, as Jesus continued:

"Verily, verily I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep. All that ever came before Me are thieves and robbers; but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door; by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture."

G. Campbell Morgan, quoted by Dr. Smith, explains the meaning of Jesus' words, "I am the door." There is no gate on the walled enclosure—the fold—only an opening. Crossing the Atlantic with Sir George Adam Smith, he says, the latter said he asked a shepherd why there was no door on the fold, and the man said, "I am the door, the sheep go in and I come there and lie down across the threshold, and no sheep can get out except over my body, and no wolf can get in except over me."

So, except through Jesus no man can get into the fold of heaven.

"I am the Good Shepherd, and know My sheep, and am known of mine. As the Father knoweth devil, can a devil open the eyes of the blind?"

They would have stoned Him then, because they said He blasphemed.

Now as Jesus walked in the porch of Solomon's temple in Jerusalem many came to Him and inquired: "How long dost Thou make us to doubt? If Thou be the Christ, tell us plainly."

Jesus' answer was: "I told you, and ye believed not; the works I do in My Father's name, they bear witness of Me." Further He said: "Say ye of Him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the son of God? If I do not works of My Father, believe Me not. But if I do, though ye believe not Me, believe the works; that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in Me, and I in Him."

At that they tried to seize Him, but He escaped and went beyond Jordan. Many followed and believed in Him.

How many voices can the children identify? Their mother's and father's, their teacher's, and many of their playmates, doubtless. We cannot hear Jesus' voice as did His believers or the Pharisees who were so set on doing away with Him, but we can remember His words as told us by the gospels, and they will help us believe and to do as He would have us. He is our Good Shepherd, and we are His sheep.

Real Estate Tax Ruling Is Made

COLUMBUS (AP) — A new law makes real estate taxes a lien against property on Jan. 1 instead of the customary "day preceding the second Monday of April."

That's the ruling of Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill to the state tax appeals board which asked for a guide in applying the new law to applications for tax exemption.

O'Neill said the change to Jan. 1 prevailed under Ohio's revised code of laws although enactments carried the traditional April date.

Selvy Tops
All-America
Cage TeamBevo Francis Edged
Out Of Top Five In Annual Poll By AP

NEW YORK (AP) — Furman's Frank Selvy, who sets a major college record every time he scores a basket, tops the 1954 Associated Press All-America collegiate basketball team announced today.

Named as Selvy's teammates by a vote of 365 sportswriters and broadcasters were Don Schlundt of Indiana; Tom Gola of LaSalle; Cliff Hagan of Kentucky and Bob Pettit of Louisiana State.

Not since the heyday of Easy Ed MacCauley of St. Louis back in 1949 has a player been accorded as many votes as Selvy, a native of Corbin, Ky.

He was picked on the first team on 280 ballots; 41 times on the second team. In other words he was named on 321 of the 365 ballots from all parts of the country.

On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for the second team, Selvy polled 1,482 points, 273 points more than the 1,209 rolled up by Schlundt, Indiana's record scorer in the Big Ten.

Gola and Hagan, two repeaters on the All-America, tallied 1,146 and 1,101 points, respectively. Bob Pettit, of Louisiana state whose scoring feats were overshadowed by Selvy's, was far behind with 784 points.

Pettit actually polled fewer first-place votes than the controversial Bevo Francis of little Rio Grande (Ohio) College, but made the first team by virtue of numerous second team votes.

Pettit tallied 102 first place votes to 119 for Bevo, but got 137 seconds to 86 for Bevo. Thus he gained the edge over Bevo for the first team by a mere 17 points.

Bevo's 767 points easily put him at the top of the second team, Indiana's Bob Leonard, Kentucky's Frank Ramsey, Duquesne's Dick Ricketts and Western Kentucky's Tom Marshall round out the second quintet.

Togo Palazzi of Holy Cross; Arnold Short of Oklahoma City; Bob Mattick of Oklahoma A&M; Johnny Kerr of Illinois and Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest were named as a third team.

Gene Shue of Maryland; Si Green and Jim Tucker of Duquesne; Paul Ebert of Ohio State and Bud Mahoney of California head a list of 27 additional players given honorable mention.

Selvy has been termed by many "an all-time All-America." Although at 6-foot-3 he is the smallest player in the team, "Fabulous Frank" this season has broken major college records like matchsticks.

He is perhaps known best for his 100-point spree against Newberry on Feb. 13 and the fact that he is the first major college player to score more than 1,000 points in one season. As of Feb. 23, he had 1,099.

Selvy can do everything well on the court, but the Furman senior has concentrated on a jump shot that is virtually impossible to stop. This has helped him to a 42-point per game average this season and to 21 national individual scoring records.

Francis, who scored 113 points in one game against Hillsdale this year, was called by some merely a "basketball sideshow." The majority held, however, that Bevo has demonstrated his ability against major competition and that his high-scoring feats of 1953 were no fluke. A year ago Bevo gained national prominence by scoring 116 points against Ashland and a third team berth on the All-America. After the season the NCAA threw out the record because it was not made against a four-year school.

Irish Cagers Look Stronger
As NCAA Tournament Nears

NEW YORK (AP) — The way they're knocking over all opposition, Notre Dame's Fighting Irish figure to go a long way in the NCAA Basketball Tournament next month.

The South Bend team, ranked 6th in the nation, won its 14th straight last night, trouncing Marquette 79-66 and making its overall season record 18-2.

With only two more regular season games to play, against Loyola of Chicago and Marquette, Notre Dame is almost certain to finish with its best season since 1935 when it won 22 and dropped 2. The Irish are scheduled to open their bid for the NCAA title in a first round game against Loyola of New Orleans at Fort Wayne, Ind., on March 9.

As usual, Captain Dick Rosenthal was the big man for Notre Dame. The rangy center contributed 29 points and placed his three-year scoring total at 1,014 points, adding to the school record he set against Pennsylvania last week.

Seattle, which faces Idaho State in another NCAA first round game at Corvallis, Ore., on March 9, also extended its winning streak by downing Portland 80-64. The Chieftains now have piled up 25 straight since their opening game loss to Wichita.

NCAA officials filled the tourney's last at-large berth yesterday with the selection of Penn State. The Nittany Lions, with an 11-5 record, will meet Toledo in the other half of Notre Dame-Loyola double-header.

Meanwhile, things weren't working out as smoothly for the National Invitation Tournament which still needs four teams.

First, Bowling Green turned down a bid early yesterday, claiming the New York competition would conflict with examination week at the Ohio school.

Then, last night, the Falcons stunned Dayton, already an NIT

Stage All Set
For Tourney
Title Games

The stage is all set for the final play-offs in the Pickaway County basketball tournament, scheduled for Friday night in the Fairgrounds Coliseum. First of the two games comprising the finals will begin at 7:30 p. m., and approximately 2,000 persons are expected to be in attendance.

The games will determine the championship team of the county tournament and will also decide which three teams are to be entered in the district tournament which starts Tuesday. Half of the games in the district meet will be played in Columbus and the other half will be played at Otterbein College, Westerville. The drawing to decide which teams will play on which courts is set for Sunday afternoon. Columbus games will be played at Capital University.

Pickaway will meet Ashville in the final contest Friday night to determine championship of the county. The game is scheduled for 9 p. m.

No matter which team wins, both will be entered in the district contests along with the winning team in the losers' bracket,

Ebert To Give
Last Performance

COLUMBUS (AP) — The greatest scorer in Ohio State University's basketball history makes his final home appearance tomorrow night against Indiana's hurrian' Hoosiers.

He's Paul Ebert, 6 foot 4 center who has rewritten most of the Ohio State scoring record: in three years as a varsity regular. In fact, Paul has established more than a dozen new marks.

In 3 years and 64 games he has manufactured 1,393 points, easily erasing the old mark of 1,084 set by Dick Schmittner.

Ebert also holds the one-season record of 477 points. That one should go by the boards tomorrow, since Paul already has pitched in 473 points in 20 games this year.

and finals in that division will be played at 7:30 p. m.

The earlier game will be a hard-fought battle between Williamsport and Darby. Darby reached the finals in a closely shaven contest Wednesday night when the Darby Five defeated Walnut in a thrilling overtime contest.

Ballots to select the outstanding player of the tournament are now in the hands of coaches of teams throughout the county. The winner will receive the coveted Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy awarded annually by The Circleville Herald. Arrangements for the presentation ceremonies will be made later.

Central District's Drawings Saturday

Central District Class "A" high school basketball drawings will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday at Ohio State University. Coaches will be guests of the university at a luncheon following the drawings. Schools in this district are the same as in the past, except that Marion-Franklin and Marysville are now Class "A", having moved up from the "B" ranks this year. In addition, Marion Harding has been transferred to the Northwest District.

Dad, Let's Explain
Some Cage Rules

ATHENS (AP) — Fred Schleicher, Ohio University wrestling coach, has a son playing basketball in the city basketball league. The youngster came home the other day with a long face and told his dad he had scored 5 points in the day's game, 3 for his team and 2 for the other.

"Didn't you know you were shooting at the wrong basket?" Fred asked.

Fiction Stories Still Rated Most Popular At District Library

Non-Fictional Works Reach All-Time High

Report Shows Staff Handles Variety Services Here

Non-fiction reading at the Pickaway County Library, from a list of 30,000 volumes, reached an all-time high last year, the librarian's annual report to the board disclosed recently.

Total circulation for the year in both city and on the bookmobile amounted to 109,154 books and periodicals. Although adults read 2,000 less books of fiction and fewer rentals during the past year, the city juvenile reader withdrew for home use a total of 1,200 more books in 1953 than in 1952.

Film service started in September, with 12 to 13 16-mm films available monthly for circulation at 25 cents for 24 hours. These films had a total circulation of 130 for the four months, with 197 showings and a total audience of 12,602 persons.

Reference work increased at the library, the number of questions being estimated at 20 per cent over the previous year.

REFERENCE QUESTIONS ranged from the single phrase or line quote—seeking to learn the author and obtain the entire article—to material for party games. Questions, to mention only a few, were in connection with social gatherings, data on "flying saucers", the St. Lawrence Seaway, the population of the world's races, information on the 18 Lohans, or Buddhist deities, education in Ohio in 1803, and other phases of state history.

Then too, others wanted to know Earl Sande's record as a jockey, the color of the silks he wore, Christmas customs popular in Mexico and the Philippines, and even the name of the "first president of the United States".

The library staff, meanwhile, also helped plan programs for child study groups, entertainments, Pumpkin Show exhibits, pictures for display in schools, research for the Monday Club, Kiwanis, and Garden Club papers.

On many occasions the reference-reading room was filled with students working on papers or projects. More than 1,500 books from the main library were loaned to teachers for classroom collections and special studies, with an additional 1,098 circulations reported from these.

Most popular class of reading for both adults and children in Circleville was fiction. The adults next in order liked: literature, periodicals, useful arts of the know-how-to-do-it class, fine arts, game books, books on sports, music, dancing, furniture and house planning.

For their second choice the children liked biography, then social science and useful arts in that order. Largest circulation of 1953 for the main library came in February—4,991. It was only slightly above the corresponding figure for March.

DISPLAYS ON special subjects at the library included those on house planning and remodeling, vacation trips, gardening, Lenten reading, football, arts and crafts of early America, and the ever-popular dogs and horses.

The bookmobile service reported an active year, with 59,171 books loaned for home use. The major part of this total was registered in the eight full school months. October had the record circulation, with a total of 8,246 volumes. As in the city, March was second.

City and county children read and enjoy the same types of books with a strong accent on the adventurous, the Wild West, and biographies. Teachers withdrew 3,647 books for the pupils' use in the classrooms.

Books issued to high school teachers increased in number by 20 per cent over the figure of last year. Of the 59,171 total circulation on the bookmobile, 8,068 were adults and 51,103 juvenile. Non-fiction total was 14,254, and fiction amounted to 44,917 volumes. This circulation is not the whole story, however, for many of the books were taken home to be read by other members of the family, and a book read aloud by a teacher to her class could be enjoyed by all of her students.

A total of 2,451 new books were added to the library, bringing the total book stock to 49,212 volumes. The library subscribes to 76 periodicals and five newspapers. Periodicals, when no longer current, are available for home use as well as library use.

Almost 7,000 catalog cards were made for these new books, for many books required several cards to make them more readily available to the public. An added feature of our cataloging is the near completion of the children's title catalog, serving to help the younger ones learn what and where the books may be found. A total of 2,400 books were mended at the library, and 184 were rebound.

REGULAR STAFF is: Mrs. Enid Denham, librarian; Wilmina Phelps and Jessie Cummings, assistants to the librarian; Doris Friedel, bookmobile librarian; Weldon Owens, bookmobile driver; Mrs. Ruth McDonald, assistant on the bookmobile; George Fickard, assistant; shelvees, Miss Paty Neff and Miss Diane Mason. Mrs. Elmer Brown is custodian of the building.

Library Board members are: Mrs. Clark Will, president; Nelle Oesterle, vice-president; Mrs. John W. Dunlap Jr., Mrs. K. E. Dountz, Richard Penn, A. W. Bosworth and Phil Smith.

Many gifts were received during the year and made part of the library collection.

Grocery Robber Grabs $3,000

WARREN (P)—A holdup man poked a gun through a window where pay checks were cashed last night and made off with around $3,000 from the Century Food Market.

James Higgins, assistant manager who estimated the loss, said the robber forced him to hand the money to an accomplice.

Sales Tax Receipts Dip In County, State

Prepaid sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the second week of February shared in the statewide decline reported by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy.

Tracy reported statewide collections for the week ending Feb. 13 were $2,234,986. The figure was $214,300 under the corresponding week in 1953.

In Pickaway County, sales tax receipts for the second week of this month were $5,527.25. For the corresponding week of last year, they were $5,898.52. A sharp gain had been noted here, however, for the first week of February over the same week in 1953.

The receipts are widely considered a good barometer of business trends.

Man Gets Sentence From Same Judge

SALEM, Mass. (P)—Robert P. Tardiff, 39, has been in court twice in the past 19 years—and on both occasions he was sentenced by the same judge.

District Court Judge George B. Sears sentenced him yesterday to a year in jail on a charge of molesting a 12-year-old girl.

In 1935, Judge Sears sentenced him as a defective delinquent. He served 16 years in various state institutions on that charge.

Colonel Breaks 'Legal Eagles'

TOKYO (P)—Playing "army," Tommy Agee, 4, decked his playmates on Okinawa with enough insignia to commission a battery of legal eagles in the adjutant general corps.

His father, Col. Forrest J. Agee, broke the tots in rank and restored the eagles and shields to a locked drawer.

Members Fete Rotary Club's Anniversary

Circleville Rotary Club glanced back at its earliest days Thursday when the weekly noon meeting marked the 32nd anniversary of the organization.

Dr. Nicholas Holmes of Chillicothe, Rotary district governor, attended the meeting and presented attendance buttons to eligible members. Bert Posten, one of the Chillicothe club members who organized the club here, gave a short talk and recalled incidents connected with the origin of the Circleville branch.

Circleville Rotary received its charter in February 1922 during a meeting held at the Methodist Church.

Attendance buttons by years were distributed as follows:

One year, Tom Gilliland and Lawrence Liston; two, John D. Hummel; three, George Armstrong and Charles T. Gilmore; four, Mac Noggle; five, Fritz Sieverts.

Seven years, Robert Brehmer Jr.; 13, Meeker Terwilliger; 17, Karl J. Herrmann and Leslie May; 18, George Griffith; 20, Dr. G. D. Phillips; 25, Charles H. May. Bob Brehmer Sr. was honored for perfect attendance since the club was organized—32 years.

OF THE ORIGINAL 23 charter members, the five remaining are Bob Brehmer Sr., Gilliland, Gilmore, Herrmann and Paul Johnson.

The meeting closed with a hilarious feature—the showing of pictures taken of members when they were at their earliest ages. The photographs had been obtained by the committee in charge from wives of the Rotarians.

Mortimer Elberfeld, president of Chillicothe Rotary, and Robert Bingham, Wilmington, former district governor, attended the meet-

Beanball Proves Fatal To Lad, 11

FREDERICK, Md. (P)—A fifth-grader beamed on the head by a baseball his friend hit back to him died last night in Frederick Memorial Hospital. Dr. Robert Furie, county medical examiner, said he suffered a fractured skull.

The youngster, 11-year-old Elmer Mullinix, had not appeared to suffer ill effects from the blow and was riding his bicycle later in the afternoon, his family said.

He was taken to the hospital after becoming nauseated early last night. He died two hours later.

Officers Shy From Defendant

OKLAHOMA CITY (P)—Officers who went to arrest Frank I. Kelly, charged with forging a $1,622 check, found him suffering from a bad case of mumps.

They took one look and decided it was a job for the sheriff, who decided it was a job for the county attorney, whose answer was: "Let's wait until tomorrow—maybe I can think of something."

The program was in charge of Larry Best, Charles Walters, Vaden Couch and Russell Palm.

4 New Schools Can Be Converted

JACKSON, Mich. (P)—This city is going to spend $80,000 to build four ranch-type, one-room school buildings for district schools. If it ever turns out they're no longer needed, they can be put to another purpose. Each can be converted into a two-bedroom home.

Burns Kill Tot, 2

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (P)—Kay Christine Criley, 2, died yesterday of burns she received when she accidentally locked herself in the bathroom and turned on the bathtub faucet.

Judge Buries Case Against Mortuary

DALLAS, Tex. (P)—Eddie Gates and Henry Holmes, both of Dallas, failed to appear in court here yesterday. They were the plaintiffs in a damage suit against the Paradise Funeral Home.

Dist. Judge Paine L. Bush dismissed the case, ruling:

"We'll bury this case for lack of prosecution, but it's subject to resurrection."

freedom GAS laundry

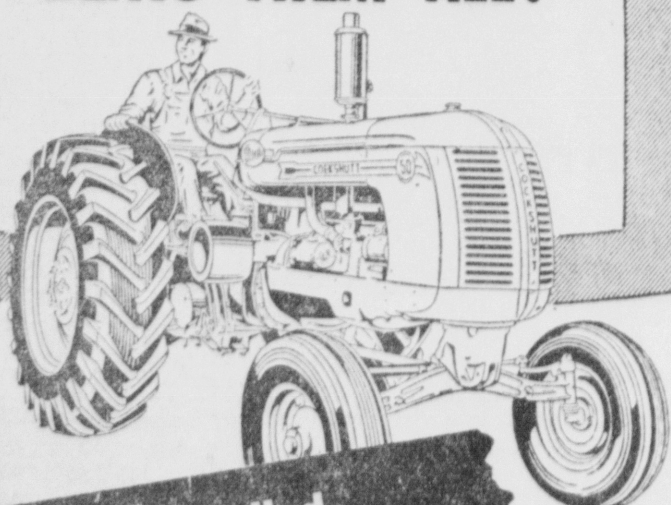

A continuous supply of clean, piping hot water is the real secret to fast, easy washdays. Only the Automatic GAS Water Heater supplies so much hot water so fast—so economically—around the clock. GAS is 3 times faster than any other automatic fuel. Thanks to its speed, a 30 gallon Automatic GAS Water Heater actually gives more service than an 80 gallon tank heated by any other automatic fuel! See your GAS Plumber-Dealer for the exact size water heater you need. Ask about the GAS Dryers and Automatic Washers, too. Only GAS gives all this

A COCKSHUTT TRACTOR BEATS THEM ALL!

How does controlled motor temperature make this tractor more efficient, more economical?

By raising the operating temperature to a precisely controlled level, COCKSHUTT Tractors actually use less fuel and deliver more power by utilizing the full amount of energy in every drop of fuel.
